

Alnarp Lose Control Night Edit

Henzel Studio

In the Night Editions collection, Calle Henzel revisits earlier works through a restrained, near-monochromatic palette that emphasizes simplicity and material presence. Several rugs undergo a vintage wash treatment that creates a deliberately worn appearance, deconstructing the wool to the knots and reshaping the surface with a textured, time-marked character. Handmade using varied washing techniques, each piece carries inherent color shifts and individual nuances. Drawing on minimalist traditions, the collection treats black as an active element of depth and balance rather than absence, inviting quiet reflection on the nature of art. Through this approach, Henzel continues to explore the tension between function and artistic intention, positioning the rug as both object and artwork.
