

Mushroom Carpet by Carsten Höller

Henzel Studio

Carsten Höller creates mushroom-inspired works to explore altered states of perception, the dualities of nature—both harmless and toxic—and the intersection of science and art. Drawing on his background in scientific research, Höller has long been fascinated by fungi, particularly the psychedelic Amanita muscaria, which he often transforms into sculptural “confusion machines” designed to destabilize expectations, heighten awareness, and spark curiosity. His mushrooms are at once playful and unsettling, evoking both the natural world and its potential to shift our experience of reality.

Höller has translated this ethos into the Mushroom Rug, a limited-edition hand-knotted piece that embodies the whimsical and transformative qualities of his sculptural works while inviting new forms of interaction within the domestic sphere. Every detail of the rug reflects the tactile immediacy and visual impact of Höller’s practice, transforming the floor
