Lois Samuels

Lois Samuels is a Jamaican-born artist whose ceramic practice is rooted in storytelling, craftsmanship, and a reverence for form. She creates hand-built, one-of-a-kind pieces that embody quiet strength and timeless beauty. Her journey with clay has taken her from traditional wood firing studies in Italy to a recent artist residency in Greece.

Textures and patterns, sometimes imprinted onto the clay, bind the tapestry of life to the surfaces she creates. Each work is a meditation on fragility and resilience, a reflection of the beauty of life and the journey.
