

Welles Double Blown Glass Sconce

Gabriel Scott

The Welles Double Blown Glass Sconce is blown in double thickness to create a jewel-like module that diffuses a soft, subtle light. This sconce sits flush with the wall, making it the perfect wall light to complement a small space and fit in any interior setting. Handmade by specialist glass blowers, this double-blown glass displays expert craftsmanship and attention to detail, resulting in a glass with unique characteristics. Available in our signature alabaster white or smoked gray glass, pair it with our satin brass, copper, nickel, bronze or black steel hardware.
