A monumental work that expresses both the quality of architectural engineering and the richly evocative. The polished steel frame offers this work an undeniable visual weight, which is both inextricable and minimal. The lustrous frame, solid in form is contrasted with the delicate and tactile quality of the mohair upholstery – emblematic of the studio's design ethos.

The Lido Steel recalls the Canadian vanguard and the country's rich heritage of brutalist architecture, celebrating the embedded utility, honesty and raw beauty of steel. The asymmetrical arm creates an open lounge chair, generous in proportion and monumental in scale. Quintessentially modernist, the Lido Steel is defined by a desire for permanence and longevity.

The Lido Steel frame is made from welding and filling stainless steel piping, and polished to a mirrored finish. The soft upholstered seating and cushions are offered in a variety of fabric finishes or with the option for customization.
